AMT
American Medical Technologists
Certifying Excellence in Allied Health

AMT encourages schools to form AMT student chapters for students enrolled in allied health programs (medical and dental assisting, phlebotomy, and clinical laboratory science.) A student society, at the school or college, is an excellent way for students to network, get to know one another, and to learn teambuilding and leadership skills.

Forming a student society encourages students and faculty to work together on programs, meetings and special events. The skills a student learns from either leading a society, being in charge of a fundraiser or activity and working together as a group will assist them in their chosen career also.

Once a student graduates and begins on their career path, they will deal with challenges, obstacles and situations every day. The skills they will need to handle their career, patients, co-workers, and bosses are diplomacy, tact, teamwork and leadership. By being involved in clubs, organizations and an AMT Student Society a student can learn all of these skills prior to beginning their career. By bringing the following skills with them into a position, the student will be more marketable, more confident and a better employee.

Since most Allied Health Profession Programs are less than one year, student societies should be formed immediately at the start of a program. It is also recommended that if a school has more than one type of program (i.e., medical and dental assisting and phlebotomy) that students from all programs have the option of joining one student society. A school and student society may decide to hold different events by each different program, but one student society is recommended.

This packet is full of information to begin a student society. Events, programs and meetings that are listed in this packet are the bare minimum a student society should accomplish prior to the students graduating. Each student society is encouraged to plan as many events or programs as they want and feel comfortable with.

As with any new venture, once a student society is formed, it may take a couple of classes to really get the student society active and involved in the community. However fast or slow the student society takes off, do not get discouraged. As with any good club or society, it depends on the dedication, knowledge and skills of the leaders. Since most allied health programs are eight months or less, it may take over a year for the student society to function as well as the schools' advisor would like. Be patient. Your students are going to learn their leadership skills from you.

Good luck and have fun with your newly formed AMT Student Society!

AMT Student Membership

AMT student membership is $5.00 per student. Once an AMT student member, they will receive a student membership packet. If the school or college wants to charge a fee for student membership it must be added onto the $5.00 sent to the National Office. It is recommended that schools not charge more than $5.00 for their student dues.

Enrollment

Student membership forms and roster are included in this packet. To be considered a member in good standing, each student must fill out a student application form (Appendix D) and sign the attached roster (Appendix C). Fees can be paid individually or with one check.

AMT Student Societies

AMT Student Activities Chair coordinates and directs student society processes. AMT members in the state societies provide assistance when needed.

AMT National Office may authorize, regulate and supervise AMT student societies for students enrolled in schools. Once graduated, AMT encourages students to immediately sit for AMT certification.

By sitting for the AMT certification exam immediately after graduation, it proves to prospective employers that the student is serious about their career.

Student Society Model Bylaws

A model student bylaw is at the end of this book. (Appendix A)

Once the student society is formed, send copies of the student bylaws to AMT National Office.

HELPFUL INFORMATION ON ESTABLISHING AND OPERATING AMT STUDENT SOCIETIES

Meeting

To start your AMT Student Society, an initial meeting should be held to discuss AMT and interest in a student society. AMT recommends that the school invite an AMT representative from the state or local society to be on hand to answer questions.

During the meeting the following should be decided:

1. Interest of students to start chapter
2. Ask for volunteers to be elected for officer positions (minimum officers listed)
 - A. President or Chairperson
 - B. Secretary
 - C. Treasurer
 - D. Director (this position is optional)
3. Complete Bylaws
4. Decide future meeting schedule for board meetings and educational meeting
5. Goals of the group
6. Projects the group wants to participate in

School programs longer than one year: It is recommended that officers be elected at this meeting or a subsequent meeting.

If the first meeting is held at the beginning of the school year it is recommended that officers be elected at the second meeting (a week or two later) for students to get to know one another.

School programs less than one year: Elect officers at the first meeting.

Minutes

Minutes of all meetings (formal or informal) need to be recorded by the secretary (or designated person if secretary is absent). Minutes should be signed by the secretary and/or president and sent to the AMT National Office and Student Activities Chair. (see Appendix B for form)

Attached to each set of minutes should be a roster of members attending the meeting (Appendix C).

Advisor

It is recommended and encouraged that the school and student society select a faculty member, preferably an AMT registrant, to act as an advisor to the student society.

The advisors name and telephone number should be reported to AMT National Office.

An excellent source of information is the by keeping in contact with the state or local AMT society by inviting a representative to the meetings. Also, students are encouraged to attend state society meetings. Many state societies do not charge students to attend meetings or it is very minimal.
